DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN'S present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

PROPOSALS

By Joseph M Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no lavorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontis-piece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

LINES ON THE DEATH OF COM. PERRY.

His martial course was o'er the deep,
And he went with his fame's gallant story;
On the billowing wave and the towering steep
His pathway shone in glory.

But heaven can close the hero's eye,
On all the bright hopes that adorn him;
'It has pleased the Almighty' to call on high,
And leave a whole nation to mourn him.

Hero of Erie, thy glittering star
Shall still be thy country's wonder;
Its light shall gleam in the din of war,
And guide the battle's thunder.

The wreath that deck'd the victor's brow,
Back to the skies shall render,
And envious death hath snatched it now,
But to bloom with more hallowed splendor.

Hero of Erie, the dread death song
Of Columbia's grief is singing;
From the distant ocean borne along
To the Lake's wild border ringing.

There, where the fight was lost and won,
There, where the foe was frowning,
There, her lament shall be buried alone—
Her grief in her glory drowning.

From the Southern Patriot.

MR. CHEVES.

The following deserving and elegant compliment to Mr. Cheves, is copied from the Eulogium pronounced by Wm. Crafts, esq. on Col. Keating Lewis Simons.

"There was an humble youth, without family, fortune or favor, who broke through the shadows of obscurity, and by the light of his talents, virtue and industry, came to shine upon us with a cheerful lustre. While some were picking up pebbles on the seashore, and others gazing idly on the billows, he was climbing, unassisted, from cliff to cliff up the rocky precipice of renown, whose towering heights seemed to frown upon, but could not intimidate him. He mastered them all, and his native state enjoyed the fruit and the honor of his labor. But, as he rose, unfortunately for us, he became more conspicuous. Born for a wider horizon, he was demanded for a larger sphere, and South Carolina gave him to the wishes of the Union, with pride and with reluctance. When Mr. Cheves was thus taken from his high judicial station among us, the eyes of the state instantly turned towards Keating Lewis Simons, as to a kindred mind and spirit, to wear his honored robes; and the line of Virgil occurred to every one—"uno avulso non deficit alter." They had been contemporary at the bar, and in the legislature, enjoying equally the esteem of each other and of the public. Like Glaucus and Diomed, they were friendly even in their contests—each of them appearing anxious to yield the triumph to his opponent. The youth of our city looked up to them both as models and instructors. Now, alas! they have lost them both.

The absent may be eulogized as well as the dead; but it is not with any view to praise, but merely to give to a good action whatever little circulation this feeble memorial may afford it, that I relate one of the instances of the high-minded generosity of Mr Cheves, in his profession. Having understood that a young member of the bar was about to make his debut in an insurance case, on the opposite side to Mr. Cheves—that gentleman waited on him, and expressing much interest in his success, tendered to him his own notes, containing his arguments and authorities, that he might, if possible, anticipate and reply to them—thus sweetly lending his own learning and labor to the youthful necessities of his friend.

Anxious to mingle with the memorial of Mr. Simons the fragrance of every virtue, I have thus endeavored to unite the names of those, who were alike worthy the affection, which each bore to the other."

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE LIFE.

It is observed of public and private life, that a man lives in one case to his country, in the other to himself; the one is a life of thought, the other of action. And both are prettily defined by an old philosopher: It is a fine thing, said Isocrates, to be alone; and it is a fine thing to be talking of it in good company; which comprises the comforts of both conditions in one.

THE BIBLE.

How consoling are the pages of Divine Oracles!—They are man's best companions when bereaved of every other earthly enjoyment; they wipe the tears of regret from the widowed eye; they soothe the cares of the orphan, revealing a father who "sticketh closer than a brother," while they point out the means of salvation to all mankind through Jesus Christ.

The latest accounts from Chili are to the last of June, published in Buenos Ayres' Gazettes to the 14th of August, received at N. York. Nothing of great moment had transpired. Admiral Cochrane had returned to Valparaiso, where the main force of the navy of Chili was re-united, and ready to sail for the Pacific. During the cruise of the Admiral, he had landed at several places on the coast of Lima, and met with little or no opposition. At Paita he took all the supplies and munitions of war at that department; and publicly before the inhabitants, he punished some excesses committed by four foreign sailors.

The following letter from Admiral Cochrane is published in the papers, and exhibits the apparent devotedness of his Lordship's zeal in the cause of the Independents.

Valparaiso, June 21st, 1819.

Most Excellent Sir—I am very sorry that the system of passive defence adopted by the enemy at Callao, in which he persevered notwithstanding the repeated provocations made upon his vessels of war at that port, has not given me an opportunity to prove to your excellency in a manner pleasing to my sentiments, how much I am devoted to the glorious cause of liberty, the consolidation of which in Chili is not far distant, to crown the efforts of your excellency. May they be always successful! May the energetic example of the new world be a pattern to the old, whenever the people groan under the yoke of military or hereditary despotism!

I beg leave to request your excellency to accept, as a proof, although very small, of my eagerness to sustain the cause of the independence in this, my adopted country, my share of the money captured and have it applied to the manufacture of rockets; and the treasury will place to my credit that sum, which must be paid when heaven may please to crown your excellency's efforts with the liberty of these provinces, the most beautiful of the globe.

It is, indeed, a great satisfaction to me, for the first time in my life, to be able to express to a government my desires to promote the liberty and happiness of mankind without incurring its public or secret mortal hatred.

I have the honor, &c.
(Signed) COCHRANE.

Extract of a private letter, dated Santiago de Chili, June 29th, written by a person well informed, and worthy of credit, to a gentleman of respectability in New-York.

"Our proclamations, books and pamphlets have the most wonderful circulation throughout Peru. The inquisitorial policy proscribes and prosecutes them with the most indefatigable efforts, but some patriots have learned some of them by heart, to keep them in their memories, should they be obliged to give up the originals; and some of them have come down to the ports and received them before the admiral, as a proof that they have not forgot them. The historical and political account of the revolution of America, has made a very deep impression on them. Send me, therefore, as many copies as you can.

At Supe, one of the parts frequently visited by the squadron, the inhabitants were so inflamed that they held a public meeting and drew a memorial requesting the admiral to furnish them with arms to declare their independence. Some of these poor people were, however, taken by the detachments of the vice-king, and a few of them took refuge with the squadron.

All the people, in general, are for the independence; but are not decided for want of assistance. If any is to be given, let it be such as to be sufficient to restrain the enemies, to sustain the provinces, to direct their resolutions and measures, and consolidate the opinions towards the desired end.—Five thousand men could accomplish these objects, although with great exertions; and we should make every effort to profit of these happy moments, that once lost, may not return in a century.

The vice-king Pezuela has brought all the forces to the capital, and, expecting the expedition every moment, he continues to fortify the line of Callao. Amongst the last measures for defence adopted against the attacks of the blockading squadron, red-hot shot is in great vogue; for the use of which he was authorised by the archbishop, who has previously declared that we are rebels and heretics. [Evening Post.

Com. RODGERS left New-York on Tuesday last for the Lakes. It is, we understand, the purpose of this able officer to visit all the navy yards and depots on the several lakes, and by personal inspection to make himself acquainted with their condition and management, as he is already, by a similar examination, with the state and operations of the naval establishments on the Northern seaboard.

The commanders of the Navy Yards were unapprised of this visit, and the public service cannot fail to derive benefit from the observations of an officer so well qualified to judge correctly, and who occupies a station which will enable him, with his experienced colleagues, to apply to the public advantage, the knowledge acquired in his tour.

[Nat. Int.

We understand, from a respectable source, that Mr. BAGOT, late British minister to the United States, and whose return to that situation, at Washington, has been in some measure expected, has been appointed by the Prince Regent ambassador to the court of Russia, at St. Petersburg.

[Washington Gazette.

To Commodore William Bainbridge, of the Navy of the United States:

SIR—In conformity with a resolution of the common council, I have the honor to present to you, the freedom of this city, as a testimony of the high sense which we entertain of your naval services and reputation.

Permit me to add the assurance of my personal esteem and respect, accompanied with my sincere wishes for the prolongation of your valuable life, to support your country's flag, and advance her naval glory.

I have the honor to be,
Yours, &c.
P. S. VAN RENSSELPER,
Mayor.

Albany, October, 1819.

New-York, October, 1819.

SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a gold box, with the freedom of the city, which has been presented to me by the common council of the city of Albany.—This testimony of their esteem is most gratefully received, and will ever be cherished by me. Permit me to tender, through you, to the common council, my best wishes for the prosperity of that highly respectable city.—The kind expressions, sir, in which you have been pleased to convey to me the sentiments of the common council, claims my acknowledgments, which I beg you to receive with my best wishes for your health and happiness.

I am, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
WM. BAINBRIDGE.

To his honor P. S. Van Rensselaer, Mayor of the city of Albany.

THE BALLOON.

Mr. Guille returned to town this morning, in the steam-boat, bringing the balloon, but little injured, with him. He intends to make his ascension, shortly, and for the satisfaction of the public, will do it, gratis. The Colonel Johnson, in whose field it fell, at Bozrah, charged Mr. Guille in the first place, FIFTY DOLLARS for the privilege of descending in his garden, but as Mr. Guille was a stranger and unfortunate, he very generously compounded for twenty-five.

TWO CROPS IN A SEASON.

A late London paper mentions, that "in several orchards on the Clyde, a second crop of pears was early in September in a considerable state of forwardness."

We have ourselves eaten of two distinct crops of water-melons, this season, from the same vines. The first crop ripened late in August, and the second early in October.—The second crop set about the time the first was gathered. These melons grew in a garden in Greenwich, Connecticut; and we believe that of 20 or 30 hills, there was not one, that did not produce a second and distinct crop. The vines continued comparatively flourishing until they were killed by frost.

MUTINY AND MURDER.

It is stated in an Amsterdam paper, of the 5th of November, that Capt. Nunnings, of the ship AFRICAN, who had arrived there from St. George d'Elmina, informs that a month before his departure, a part of the crew of the Three Friends, Captain C. Fol, bound from Pernambuco, and George d'Elmina to Amsterdam, mutinied eight leagues from George d'Elmina, and, after having murdered the captain and pilot, blew up the ship. Four of the crew, not being of the number of the mutineers, saved themselves by flight, and three of them (the fourth having died on the coast) were conveyed in the African to Amsterdam. [ibid.

BENEFIT TO THE POOR.

In every instance of calamity and distress, we find no individuals more prompt in affording relief to the sufferers than the managers of the Philadelphia theatre. No sooner had they opened the theatre here, than they made a proffer of a night's profits, for the benefit of the afflicted poor at Baltimore, which has been accepted by the mayor of that city, who will cheerfully receive and carefully appropriate any sum the managers may have the good fortune to obtain for them. In consequence of their kind and liberal offer being accepted, the managers intend devoting the performances on next Wednesday evening to this purpose. We sincerely wish that the citizens will exert themselves in aid of this meritorious service, so that it will prove beneficial to those whom it is intended to relieve, and whose sufferings no doubt stand in need of every generous effort that can be made in their behalf. [Franklin Gazette.

The poem of Don Juan, has at length made its appearance, and to those who hoped Lord Byron would be reclaimed to the paths of virtue, we would recommend a perusal of this poem. It contains all the varieties of infamy; it displays a disposition as insensible to the charms of female constancy as to the thunders of Sinai; it is a compound of the basest traits of the human characters; it is in some points the perfection of poetry, and of depravity. The muse of Byron is an infernal muse—she endeavors with an intensity of genius to allure, and to fascinate by every seductive blandishment; but while we gaze, the brilliant deception formed to fascinate, and to delude, suddenly dissipates into the sulphur of the infernal regions. He has now affixed not a satire upon his name, but a stigma upon his grave. [Balt. Chron.

POSTSCRIPT.—Just as our paper was going to press we were informed by a gentleman of this place that he had seen and conversed with two gentlemen 13 days from Alexandria, La: one of whom states, that a few days before he left that place, a person had arrived there in disguise, who was recognized by some officers of the late French army, resident there, to be Napoleon Bonaparte. The gentleman who made this statement is known to be a man of good standing.

A Glasgow paper of the 13th ult. is received at N. York. A large Reform meeting was held at Paisley on the 11th, at which the hustings were covered with black, and the speakers dressed in mourning, expressive of their regret for the martyrs at Manchester.—Several spirited resolutions against the conduct of the Manchester magistrates were adopted, and considerable warmth of feeling was manifested. Early in the evening an express arrived at Glasgow requesting military aid, and some troops were sent off who reached Paisley about twelve o'clock at night, at which hour, however, the people had nearly dispersed, and the place had become quiet. The troops remained in the neighborhood.—Next day (Sunday) the place was again alarmed by several parties of the Reformers, who patrolled the streets with their flags, broke the windows of several of the public houses, threw stones at the magistrates, and committed other outrages. About twenty of the ringleaders were arrested, and order was again restored. [Mercantile Adv.

Frankfort, (Germany,) Aug. 31.

Accounts from Wurtzburg, say, that on the night of the 18th, the windows of the houses inhabited by Jews were broken, at Sommerach and Rimpon. In this last town, the populace, not content with breaking the windows of the synagogue, penetrated into the interior, and destroyed every thing that served for the exercise of the Jewish worship.

Besides the despatches brought by a courier from Prince Metternich and many other of the ministers at Carlsbad, which caused an extraordinary meeting of the diet, and the adjournment of the vacation till September, another courier has brought a letter from prince Metternich to our senate, on the subject of the late tumults and attacks on the Jews. The king of Bavaria has decided that the town of Wurtzburg must indemnity the Jews for the losses they have suffered in the late tumults there, and that the amount of the indemnity shall be imposed on such of the inhabitants as have excited these troubles. This general animosity against the Jews is quite inconceivable. From every quarter we have accounts of the same scandalous scenes. At Rembart, a village near Wurtzburg, the peasants not only plundered the houses of the Jews, but demolished the synagogue, trampled on the bora or ark, in which were the Books of Moses; threw the whole into the street, broke the chandeliers, and committed the most reprehensible excesses. In some little towns in Franconia, there have been very serious tumults, occasioned by the same hatred of the Jews. At Berlin, a Jew being pursued by a crowd of idle people, had no means of saving himself but to join in the cry of "Hep! Hep!" which has become so terrible to the Jews in Germany.

The late excellent Doctor Buchanan, whilst resident in the East Indies, devoted a large portion of his time to an examination of the moral condition of the Hindoo inhabitants of the British dominions in that part of the world. With a zeal, activity, resolution, and perseverance, which distinguished him through life, he collected a mass of evidence on that interesting subject, and laid it before his country and the world, and accompanied it with such an earnest and eloquent appeal to the justice, humanity and integrity of the British nation and government, that its effects were irresistible. Against the very strong and animated opposition of many interested and influential individuals, the sense of the religious portion of the nation prevailed, and many important changes took place in the system of government, and the superintendence of the moral condition of the people.—Among other subjects to which Dr. Buchanan directed his attention, and to which he loudly called that of the nation, was the barbarous and shocking practice of the sacrifice of children by their parents, and the burning of widows on the funeral piles of their deceased husbands. Within a few years past, under the government of the Marquis of Hastings, both these horrible crimes have been prohibited by law. With regard to the latter, it seems an attempt has been made to procure the government to remove the injunction, and to permit it once more to be introduced.—For this purpose a petition was got up, and signed by a number of persons, who called themselves "the principal inhabitants of Calcutta," and presented to the Marquis of Hastings and the country. This produced a counter petition from "the Hindoo inhabitants of Calcutta," in which they pray for the continuance of the prohibition, and justify the abrogation of the practice, in strong and pathetic terms. The progress which the principles of Christianity and civilization are making in the world, through the strumentality of charitable associations, and the co-operation of governments, is one of those wonderful events which characterize and distinguish the present period. Who, that marks "the signs of the times," will not feel animated with a sincere and fervent disposition to lend every aid in his power to the efforts of those whose benevolence expands with the increase of its objects, and glows with redoubled warmth at every new evidence of success?

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

The following case was tried about a month ago in the Marine Court, and exhibits a spirit of litigation, for trifling objects, which is by no means creditable to a peaceful community. The time has been when law had many terrors, and various sacrifices have been submitted to, rather than going to law, but now the most trivial trespass and dispute are carried into court, and the time of Judge and jury is unprofitably expended in attending to such cases. Reformation on this head is much wanted.

Reported for the National Advocate.

MARINE COURT, Sept. 30, 1819.
Present, Mr. Justice Drake.

Streitoff v. Streit.

An action for taking out of plaintiff's field a heifer, and damages sustained thereon to his damage $100.

J. Anthon, counsel for plaintiff.
G. Wilson, for defendant.

Anthon opened the cause to the jury, and stated that the present action was to recover from Streit, damage for taking out of Streitoff's field a "female" heifer, which the said Streitoff claims as his.

It appears that some time since, Streit came to Streitoff's field in company with Jos. Madder, a constable, and cut the heifer loose, which was tied in Streitoff's field, and was about taking her away, when Streitoff demanded of him his authority for taking it, upon which Madden arrested Streitoff on a warrant for fifty-six cents due Streit—a scuffle ensued, and the heifer taking an active part in the affair bucked Streit down; Streit and Madden, however, succeeded in bearing the heifer off.—Streit then sued the plaintiff in this case before Mr. Justice Flannagan, of the 9th ward, for keeping the heifer to his damage, of $35. On this trial, there was examined on the part of the plaintiff, Streit, 21 witnesses, and on the part of the defendant, Streitoff, 16 witnesses. The jury gave a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, Streit, $6 56.

The action now brought was to recover damages from Striet, for taking the heifer out of Streitoff's field.

Henry Streitoff, being sworn, stated that the heifer in question belongs to his brother, the plaintiff, and that about six weeks since she strayed away and was missing about two weeks, when he found her on the road, he then cut her ear and brought her to his brother's field, and when she was there about one week, the defendant, Streit, came and took her away, and that in taking her away she bucked him down.

Cross-examined by Wilson, counsel for defendant.

Q. Mr. Streitoff—How do you know the heifer to be your brother's——by what marks?

A. By her having her right horn broken, a white spot on her belly, and because she was a very wild bucking heifer.

Q. Are you sure the heifer now in possession of Streit is your brother's?

A. I am sure of it—I ought to know it, for I used to feed it every day, and many a time it has chased me to buck me.

The counsel in examining this witness, was very minute in his questions, which bothered the witness so much as to suppose he was intoxicated.

Q. Streitoff—How many small glasses of rum have you drank to-day?

A. (By witness putting on a recollecting mood.) I rather guess, sir, I have drank just about as many again as half.

Anthon.--Properly answered.—(Loud laugh.)

By the Court.—Mr. Wilson, it is quite unnecessary to ask the witness any such questions.

Wilson.—You may retire Streitoff.

Streitoff.—Thank you, sir.—I'll get out as soon as I can, for I am as sober as you, or any one in court.

The next witness on the part of the plaintiff was his sister, (Mary Streitoff, a fine, large, fat country girl) who deposed that the heifer was her brother's, that she had raised it from a calf, and that it was a very wild heifer—had a white spot on its belly, and broken horn, &c.

Q. (By Wilson.) What was the colour of the heifer?

A. It was a brindle heifer, and looked like its mother.

Q. Was it as fat as its mother!

A. I do not think it was.

Q. How large was the white spot on the belly?

A. About the size of my hand.

Q. Where was the white spot?

A. Near the navel.

Q. Are you sure it is your brother's heifer?

A. I am sure of it.

The next witness was George Streitoff, the father of the plaintiff, who stated that he took the heifer from its mother when it was a week old, and gave it to his son—that it is a wild bucking heifer, has a white spot on its belly, and a broken horn, &c.

Cross examined by Wilson.

Q. Mr. Streitoff—are you sure the heifer in question is your son's?

A. I am sure of it.

Q. By what mark?

A. The white spot on its belly.

Q. Where was the white spot?

A. Near the navel.

Q. How far from the navel?

A. Not quite one hundred yards, if I am not mistaken.—(Loud laugh)

The plaintiff then produced about a dozen persons, who all testified it was his heifer—that it had a white spot on its belly, broken horn, and that they had seen it very often.

Anthon, here rested the case on the part of the plaintiff.

Wilson, on the part of the defendant, examined twenty-five persons, who all swore that the heifer belonged to Streit, that it was a very tame heifer, that they never perceived any white spot on its belly, that its horn was a little broke, and they never knew Streitoff had a heifer of that description.

Mr. Justice Flanagan, testified that the cause was tried before him, and that he saw the heifer—that it was very tame and he did not perceive the white spot on its belly, the counsel on the part of the plaintiff was very severe with Mr. Flanagan, and as the Justice thought that he knew more about law than the counsel, he got a little angry, when the counsel, told him not to ride quite so high a hobby.

The jury then informed the court, that unless they saw the heifer, they could not agree, in consequence of the very contradictory evidence which had been given. It was proposed to have her brought into Court—but, apprehensive she might buck them, the court gave the jury permission to visit the heifer; they accordingly proceeded in waggons, accompanied by the parties, to view the heifer, which was at the defendant's farm, about four miles from this city. While the jury were examining the heifer, the plaintiff tried to make it buck, but it would not, for lo! it was a very tame heifer, and would not injure any one—the jury returned to court and gave a verdict in favor of the defendant. The trial lasted two days, and it appears that all the old men and women were trompetted up for 10 miles around the country as witnesses. The costs of prosecution were six times the value of the heifer; and, as the counsel for the plaintiff observed, that as her value was actually about $8, he had not the least doubt, but that it would be valued at fifty dollars before the trial was over, for some swore it was worth, 8, 10, 15, 20, 25, and 30 dollars—so little did they know about the value of bucking heifers.

Public Sale.

UNDER the authority of a deed made to the subscribers, by Wm. H. Foote and Benjamin M. Brooke, acting as commissioners under an act of the General Assembly of Virginia, passed on the 21st day of February, 1818, entitled, "an act authorising the sale of certain lands belonging to the heirs of the late Walter D. Brooke," and which said deed was in trust, among other things, to secure to the said commissioners and to the persons entitled to receive the same from the purchasers under said deed, the sum of 385 dollars, to be paid on the 19th day of September, 1819, will be sold at public auction, for cash, at 12 o'clock, on Saturday, the 4th day of December next, on the premises, one undivided fourth part of that portion of a certain tract of land, situate in the county of Fairfax and state of Virginia, commonly called which Ann Brooke holds as dower, in her deceased husband's estate, which undivided fourth part, being about 35½ acres, will be sold, subject to the life estate of the said widow, Ann Brooke.

RETIREMENT,

Valuable Land for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Superior court of chancery for the district of Fredericksburg in Virginia, the undersigned commissioners will proceed to sell at public auction, upon a credit of one, two, and three years, at Middleburg, in the county of Loudon, on Thursday the 18th day of November next, lying in the neighborhood of Middleburg.—The whole land is of that quality termed plaister land, and susceptible of high improvement by the use of it. The whole will be laid out into small tracts, of from two to three hundred acres each, and sold in separate tracts to suit purchasers. The whole is well watered, and no country is more healthy. Captain Pickett, who lives near the land, and who is employed to make a survey of it; and Mr. Sommers, who is the agent for the collection of the rents, will shew the land to those who may be inclined to purchase. Bond and security, and a deed of trust upon each tract, will be required of the purchaser.

4000 Acres of Land,

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

ANDW. ROUNSAVELL.

september 8 Jailor.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 26th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.

Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.

June 11 H

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. WM HAWLEY, Washington, Rev. WM. H. WILMER, Alexandria, Rev. OLIVER NORRIS, Alexandria, Rev. REUEL KEITH, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity whcih teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid.

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July, June26
